Development of a low-grade glial tumor model from rat brain homogenates with long-term transplanted glial cell line. A low-grade glial tumor model was established from a rat brain homogenate. Immortalized rat brain-derived cell line NSE-S cells were transplanted into the right anterior temporal lobe region of E1-transgenic rats, and the tumor was induced by intracerebral inoculation of NSE-S cells mixed with brain homogenates. Immunohistochemical and histological examination revealed that the transplanted cells showed the property of astrocyte-like cells. Staining for S100 protein and glial fibrillary acidic protein (GFAP) showed that tumor cells assumed the astrocytic phenotype. The cells grew without mitotic activity or spread to adjacent brain regions. All tumors showed neuronal involvement or hyperplasia in the
