Lounge-Motiv Munich Germany's Lounge-Motiv are a perfect example of how a group can change their style with seemingly little effort – in this case from Dubstep to Electro. The ease with which they can alter their sound makes this release all the more exciting. Highlights include the opener “The Second Coming of Gazelle” which uses the classic piano intro of Queen’s “Bohemian Rhapsody” as its underpinning before breaking free with an epic Techno beat and melodic bassline. This track carries the impressive title of “Funk Forever”, which is a track that I don’t think I’ve heard before – it’s a medley of several Funk classics that is almost hypnotic in it’s simplicity and grandeur.
