2018 9,800 The Ammonium Nitrate Service Instruction for the written test and the online training are available in many languages. The written test is divided into two parts.

11,500 The written test is divided into four sections: Transportation of explosive materials and dangerous machinery and munition (DMM) and controlled cargo (both of which are part of the written test listed here), explosives and DMM licensing, and dangerous machinery and munition (DMM) and controlled cargo licensing. The BIS test has three levels: Level . BIS does not guarantee that a written test score or an on-line test score will be representative of the performance of the applicant on the road, as the number of driving situations, road types, and control agents are different from those covered by real-life practice tests. The government may require persons with this license to undergo a second test to verify the results of this test. The result of the test may be different from that of a real-life test, because the performance of the applicant on the road varies depending on the driving habits of the applicant. Testing centres decide when to administer the test, and applicants are given no notice before the test. The test score is recorded on the test title, which is provided as a computerized or printed form to applicants.
