Monday, December 26, 2010 When you're outside of a city, a block away from the ocean is like reaching up to touch the clouds. It's the way the wind blows and the smell of the ocean is so clean. There's nothing to do but just breathe in the cool air. It seems as if the world stops, and you're just floating in time. It's quiet, and you can hear the world's heart beating, just like yours. There's no one else around, but I'm fine with that. Just relax, and enjoy your time. It's a beautiful time of year, when you can breathe deep in the ocean. Friday, December 2, 2010 Since I'm not working right now, I have lots of time to think about things. I like to go exploring every once in a while, and I just want to see everything I possibly can. I'm going to see the snowflakes fall in the night, and it will be like the snow is dancing to my music. The trees will be singing with the wind, and I'll be happy that they're all dressed up. The city has everything I've ever wanted, but I don't want it to get in the way. It's too polluted. I want to be in a pure place that cleans the air. I'm a kid at heart. Tuesday, November 30, 2010 It's one thing to be in the wilderness, but it's another thing entirely to be surrounded by so many people. I don't like people. I like nature. There's something very comforting about being alone. The only time I like people is when we're all together in a place like the mountains or the beach. That's the beauty of nature. It's there to be enjoyed, and it's not there to be used. I'm just getting to know the people around me, and it's not that I don't want to spend time with them. I'm just enjoying being alone. I'm getting to know myself, and it's not like I don't have any friends or family. I do, but I need to find my own path in life. Everyone has a different destiny.
