THE ARGUMENT In the upcoming argument, I will try to illuminate the facts and conclusions that can be derived from the information we have been given. I believe it is impossible to ignore, and I will make the attempt to prove that the community and game released are in some ways, flawed or fake. I strongly believe in the community, but this is a journey that I must take and this is the closest I can get. Therefore, I am welcoming any evidence that proves otherwise with the original material. THE DECODE: As I mentioned in the gameplay section, Curren5ter is the main antagonist. A combination of Nick and Victoria, his "personality" is the Narrator. The unique account (vote manipulation) will be nominated as the unexpected player that is not the player you vote for. Overall, he is a genius of manipulation and lies. The only person that knows who he is, is Mr. Curren5ter himself, he is quick to lie and most of the time, I think he really likes to play people. He had two things going on in his life that he didn't want to get out. Two years ago, he had an addiction and just a small accident that occurred a week before his 3rd birthday. He got a bad concussion, that lead to a mental issue that plagued him. This ultimately led to the addiction to substitute one thing with another. TIP: If you play this game and you think that he is real then read on to the second part of this argument. WHAT YOU WILL RECEIVE ARGUMENT: The Argument section will consist of a Debunked video, in which I will show 5 points that I will explain on a few pages
