With the KEYMACRO app, you can change your MAC address remotely. With this, you can change your IP address and MAC address to make your computer or mobile device look different than it is, and not reveal your true address to networks. The app works by sending a one-time pad to your Mac or iOS device that you can use to decode the one-time pad to recover the original string. What's in this version: - Improved: Your Mac will now enter a screen saver mode when idle. This will help reduce battery drain. - Improved: You can now navigate your contacts list with the arrow keys on your Mac. - Improved: You can now configure and make sure your MAC address is the same as the one your computer has. - Improved: Previously you would need to restart your computer for the changes to take effect, now you will only need to restart the app. - Improved: Added a more prominent "Hide Mac Address" button in the about screen. - Bug fix: If you have a lot of devices that you manage your network for, you may have noticed that the About screen would sometimes jump to a different device than what you were trying to manage. We have fixed this and it should no longer happen. - Bug fix: The reset button did not work when you first installed the app. We have fixed this and it should now work properly. - Bug fix: If you previously used a passcode, the reset button should now work. - Bug fix: When updating for macOS 10.14.1 you may have seen that the app would not start after installation. We have fixed this and the app should now start properly. Requirements: Mac OS X 10.14.1 or later Copyright 1998-2018 Copyright owners. All rights reserved.
