Characterization of the interaction of the brain's opioid receptor with its nonopioid natural ligand, alpha 2-macroglobulin. The objective of the present study was to determine whether the opioid receptor is able to interact with alpha 2-macroglobulin (alpha 2M), a nonopioid polypeptide that plays a role in various biological processes, including pain modulation. alpha 2M was identified as an endogenous ligand of the opioid receptor from in vitro studies using opioid radioligands. We report here that beta-endorphin, with high affinity for the opiate receptor, binds to alpha 2M in a specific manner and that non-radioactive alpha 2M is able to displace [3H
