The aim of this study was to validate the original questionnaire for measuring children's opportunities for PA at school (O-OAP) assessing the different dimensions of PA in school time. The O-OAP was administered to 3rd, 4th and 5th grade schoolchildren (n = 134). Both test-retest reliability and internal consistency were examined. Confirmatory factor analysis was performed. Test-retest reliability over the entire period was satisfactory, ranging from $r = .72$ for MVPA to $r = .88$ for sedentary time. The internal consistency was acceptable, with Cronbach's α ranging from .74 for MVPA to .91 for sedentary time. This study provided initial evidence regarding the validity of the O-OAP in children.Q: When to use openlayers popup layers? I have
