Or when i open it from shell version, i get to following (i had to open it with shell version because double clicking is not working) MioPocket.exe"

A: You have two (main) possibilities. Your MioPocket shell is broken and MioMail fails to "execute", i.e. launch. You have some sort of bug in MioMail and it issues 2.exe files. The first one is easy to check. Try opening MioPocket shell directly from shell and opening MioMail. The second is harder. If you see 2.exe files, delete them. Go to your MioMail folder and create a folder "MioMail" (without the quotes). Move all your messages in there. Delete the other.exe files, open MioMail and retry to send. If it says MioMail is not installed, reinstall it (don't forget to retry to send after reinstallation). Let me know if it worked. Edit: it worked for me. ZIP / Mipocket 4.0 Release 68. All the files under both folders are the same. zip. Order Mondo 2000 with the MioPocket. continent: europe - united kingdom - germany - italy - australia - south africa - USA - Canada. And inside this folder two folders : bin/ and content/. bin/ contains an executable file named MioKit.exe and the content/ folder includes 3 dll files one of which is an.exe file named factorySetup.exe. I can now get to any screen using the Factory Setup, the 3D Map and others but, once I want to get out of the map, it asks me to save but I cannot proceed to any option of exit. Finally, if I want to do a complete shutdown, it asks me to enter the PIN. That's it, it doesn't work. In few words I got stuck. Did I install the wrong part of the software or it's me and not the software? I'm running the latest version of Windows Mobile 2003 (in my case the stage 4). Can you please help me? Thank you in advance

Mav A: This is an old question, but I was just wondering what the solution is, so I did some research. Once you perform the GPS shut down (see the documentation for more info about GPS), you cannot unlock the phone again. You can do however, if you connect it to a Windows PC, use one of the apps on the MioPocket forum and click Unlock. I'm not sure which app does what, but I got it working without the need to have the Windows Mobile 2003 (there are also other apps available that can be used). Another way to unlock the phone is probably the original MioKit.exe that comes with the phone. You can find it here: MDK4_\Flash\obj\Win32\MioKit\bin\Win32\MioKit.exe You can download MioPocket here: I also found the supported Firmwares here: If you follow this link, the MioPocket 4.0 Release 68.zip file contains
